City withdraws support for Madison

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Cooperation between Granite City and Madison over annexation issues may not be as imminent as it seemed last week.

Granite City officials, after learning that a proposed annexation along the Chain of Rocks Canal by the city of Madison could reap that city as much as $2 million a year, have decided to wait a while before signing off on the annexation.

The Granite City Council had voted 8-5 last week to send a letter to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers supporting Madison's proposed annexation of a five-mile-long strip of land from the southern tip of Gabaret Island to the Chain of Rocks Landfill. The corps requires all local government entities to agree before any federal land may be annexed by a municipality.

'A lot of the council, including myself, weren't really aware of what we were considering last week,' Alderman Craig Tarpoff said Tuesday at a meeting of the Planning, Zoning and Annexations Committee. Tarpoff, chairman of the committee, opposed the Madison annexation last week and apparently convinced several other aldermen this week that the deal was not "mutually beneficial" to all parties and that the city should renegotiate with Madison.

Judge rejects library claim

City does not owe any back taxes, court decides

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

The city of Granite City does not owe the Granite City Library District a single penny in back taxes, a judge has ruled.

replacement taxes since 1989 and in the future. The amount sought totaled about $1.5 million plus interest plus about $200,000 annually in future years.

But Associate Judge Ann Callis Roney ruled in favor of the city May 30.

The library board has 90 days to appeal the decision.

'We're gratified that the judge agreed with our position and that the taxpayers of Granite City will not have to fund construction of a new library in Pontoon Beach,' City Comptroller K.P. MacTaggart said of the decision.

The library was a part of city government prior to 1991.

'A wonderful verdict'

Area officials react to McVeigh bombing trial

Gary Griffin of Edwardsville was working in Tulsa, Okla., when Timothy McVeigh planted a bomb that shook Oklahoma City and thousands of other ordinary people who happen to work for the federal government.

Griffin, a grants manager with the U.S. Department of Interior's office in Alton's federal building, said a guilty verdict Monday was the second major factor in bringing a sense of closure to the incident.

McVeigh was convicted Monday of blowing up the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City in April 1995 in a murderous attack against his own government that awakened America to the threat of homegrown terrorism.

Griffin was in Oklahoma City to watch when the wreckage of the building was implored, providing the first major event in the process of closure, he said.

'It was amazing. Nearly everybody who watched the implosion was crying,' Griffin said.

Griffin said he knew a U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency supervisor who had to cope with the fact that the supervisor had sent a female agent to Oklahoma City just before the April 19, 1995, blast.

'She was pregnant and lost every friend and co-worker she had,' Griffin said. 'Those kind of stories are extremely common.'

While Griffin and others were feeling a quiet sense of relief, Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine was applauding Monday's verdict enthusiastically.

'I think it's a wonderful verdict,' Haine said.

He said the case creates a proud day for

'It was the basic initiative of a good police officer (that prevented McVeigh from escaping). He is typical of thousands of police officers across the nation, and in Alton and Madison County.'

American law enforcement.

Haine pointed out that if a police officer in a small Oklahoma town hadn't spotted the car McVeigh was driving, stopped him and held him for investigation of the gun the suspect was carrying, there may not have been a trial.

'He (McVeigh) would have been gone,' Haine said.

'It was the basic initiative of a good police officer. He is typical of thousands of police officers across the nation, and in Alton and Madison County,' the prosecutor said.

He said he also is proud of the U.S. attorney who prosecuted the case and the Federal Bureau of Investigation agents who gathered evidence.

Chief Madison County Circuit Judge Nicholas Byron praised the case presented by federal

But for the hundreds of people served by the St. John's Homebound Care program, those activities are anything but routine. The focus of the program is to help the aged and disabled with just such tasks.

The program, which charges an hourly rate, has a staff of 40 who assist clients anywhere from once a month to 24 hours a day. The clients of the program, sponsored by St. John Evangelical United Church of Christ, have ranged in age from 12 to 100.

911 repeats threat to cut cellular calls

Administrators of 911 systems in Illinois still are threatening to cut off calls from cellular telephones if phone companies don't pay up.

"Without some kind of contract, we won't be able to take their calls," said David Whipple, Madison County 911 coordinator and vice president of the Illinois chapter of the National Emergency Numbers Association.

Two weeks ago, 911 officials warned that if a bill wasn't passed to require payment of a 911 surcharge for cellular phones, they would have to cut off service to cellular phones.

That would mean that millions of cellular phone customers may not be able to dial 911 directly.

Currently, 911 systems in Illinois are funded by a surcharge on regular wireline phones. In Madison County, the surcharge is 65 cents per phone line.

The 911 agencies are concerned that increasing numbers of cellular phones are jamming their phone lines with calls from people who may not even be paying to support the system.

The National Emergency Numbers Association has an opinion from its attorney stating that 911 systems could be held liable if cellular phone calls tie up lines when regular phone customers are trying to place a call.

Whipple said Friday that he would draft a letter to Ameritech and Southwestern Bell, the two largest local providers. He said he would ask the two companies to begin assessing a 911 surcharge of 65 cents for each cellular phone in the county.

The companies also will be asked to hold Madison County 911 blameless for any liability that may arise from an emergency call.

Doug McFarlan, executive director of external relations for Illinois Ameritech, said his company still wants to work with 911 agencies.

"We thought everyone was OK with this," he said. "Now, all of a sudden, there's this last-minute push at the end of the legislative session."

However, McFarlan acknowledged the 911 cellular dispute has actually gone on for four years.

He said Ameritech wants to sit down with the Illinois chapter of the association and discuss an agreement.

"It's my understanding that there is no consensus on a final agreement anyway," McFarlan said. "In the mean time, we don't need to cut off what's already being done (service to cellular phones)."

But Whipple said there is no time.

"We don't have time to talk. We've talked for four years. Talking is finished."

Whipple will have to get agreement from the county Emergency Telephone System Board before he can propose the contract with Ameritech or Southwestern Bell.

The board, which is chaired by Godfrey Fire Chief Terry Reed, is to meet June 12.

Board members at a previous meeting told Whipple to do whatever was necessary to proceed.

Man who trekked nation speaks of power of fitness

ALTON — Rob Sweetgall, who wore out three pairs of shoes walking across all 50 states, says he could "write a book" about survival in America.

The 49-year-old fitness guru walked 10,608 miles on his first nine-month journey, from Oct. 9, 1982, to July 1, 1983. The second trip covered 11,208 miles and took a year, from Sept. 7, 1984, to Sept. 5, 1985.

He knocked out strangers, doors to find shelter or stayed in motels, and he says he has no "war stories" to tell about his journeys. There were no muggings or even encounters with dogs, although he acknowledges he had a couple of canine scares.

Sweetgall captivated audiences in two appearances Wednesday sponsored by St. Anthony's Health Center, both held in the hospital's Wellness Center in Alton Square. One was a Fitness Walk Clinic, and the other was titled "Walking Off Weight and Stress Seminar."

"Think in terms of fun and enjoyment," Sweetgall told his audiences. "Find something you enjoy doing. I don't do any exercise I don't like."

But Sweetgall's forte is walking, and he offered many tips on its health benefits and the best way to go about it. In talks laced with humor, he advised his listeners concerned about weight control: "The more you walk, the more you lose."

He makes his living by selling books, seminars and corporate wellness programs. His home is in Clayton, Mo. He can be reached at P.O. Box 50296, Clayton, Mo. 63105, or telephoned at (314) 721-3600.

Sweetgall, who is single, is a graduate of Cooper Union in New York and worked 12 years for DuPont as a chemical engineer. He left the company to embark on a fitness program because of a history of heart disease in his family, especially after his father died of it in 1976, he said.

"It was that whole evolution of a high-fat diet and seeing my family die of heart disease," he said in an interview. "I took another tack to get healthy."

When he left DuPont, he looked for a project that would have an impact.

"I wanted to get people thinking," he said.

The walks across the United States were the result. He had sponsors on both trips and a support vehicle on the first. On the second, he carried only a fanny pack filled with a camera, foot care products and a change of socks. He carried a little food, but mostly ate in restaurants along the way.

Sweetgall walked in wind chills of 30 degrees below zero, showing a slide of his cold-weather outfit, complete with ski mask, that he called his "Unabomber" costume. He walked just about every day, facing the traffic, and with common sense. For instance, he didn't walk in midday, when temperatures reached 100 degrees.

On his first trip, he averaged 38 miles a day, and on the second, 23 miles a day. There was no motel nearby, he knocked on doors.

"Strangers put me up," he said.

One night, he slept in a jail cell in Pascagoula, Miss.

"I was in the motel where he was, and he was invited by the sheriff to give a talk the next day about walking."

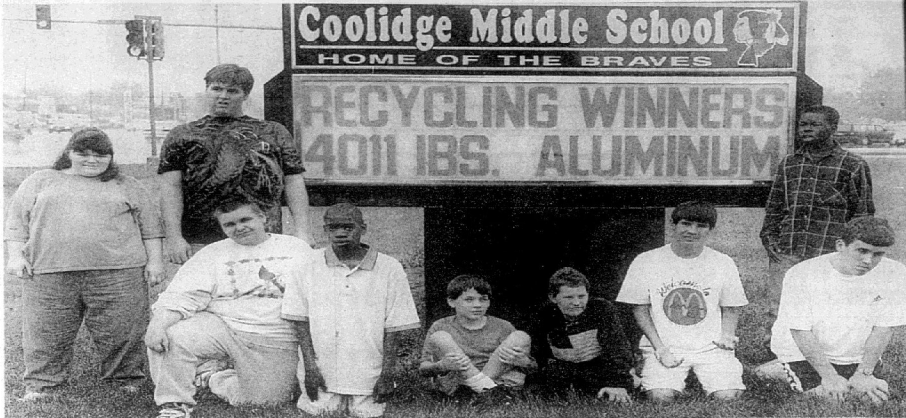

When he was a student in high school, he was called "Butter ball," and when he worked for DuPont, he weighed 198 pounds. Today, at 6-foot-2-inches tall, he weighs between 169 and 172 pounds. He is a vegetarian because he believes animals have their place and he has his.

He said the biggest problem is that Americans eat too much.

Sweetgall calls the walking shoes sold in today's market "a joke," preferring running shoes. He said he never buys clogs because they exploit child labor.

In one pair of shoes he wore on his walks, he slit the sides open to let in cool air.

Coolidge class tops in recycling

Students win grand prize for collecting most aluminum cans

By Michelle Duell

Nine students of the Trainable Mentally Handicapped class at Coolidge Middle School were surprised recently when they learned they had won a grand prize for collecting the most aluminum cans overall in the Kids, Cans, Plus! contest.

The contest sponsor, Reynolds Recycling, which conducted the event in St. Louis and Southern Illinois, awarded $150 to the class for recycling the most pounds of cans overall from among 43 schools, said spokeswoman Jennifer Ball.

"Coolidge Middle School recycled 4,011 pounds of aluminum cans," she said.

"Overall, the combined efforts of 43 schools diverted 23,895 pounds — nearly 12 tons — of aluminum cans from local landfills."

Cheryl Owen, teacher of the Coolidge TMH class, said her students had already been collecting cans and receiving money for them before they entered the contest in October.

"At first, we didn't even think about the contest," Owen said. "They've been doing it since the beginning of the school year."

"This taught them how to work together and how to clean up messes. They crushed the cans, bagged them, and were responsible for getting them from the lunch room."

"It also gave them spending money for field trips and in-school pre-vocational activities," Owen said. "It helped them earn money (throughout the year) to make gifts for their parents for Christmas, Mother's Day and other holidays."

The dollars collected from the recycled cans also paid expenses for field trips and classroom equipment, such as a fish tank. Owen said, adding that of the 4,011 pounds of cans collected, it took 31 cans to make a pound.

The students who collected the cans were Jeff Clark, 16; Larry Kampmann, 15; Travis Punnekamp, 16; Daniel Tate, 13; DeAnte Walker, 13; Ryan Meyer, 15; Sarah Harr, 15; Jon Harley, 14 and Keith Schuppert, 13.

Passenger dies in accident

A 20-year-old Wood River man lost control of his 1987 Ford Mustang early Sunday on Wanda Road, shearing off the side of a utility pole and crashing into a thicket of trees, killing his passenger.

Dead is Kathy Ann Haselhorst, 30, of Wood River.

Driver of the car, Scott D. Gilliam, 20, was listed in serious but stable condition after noon.

A family member said Gilliam is the best friend of one of Haselhorst's brothers. She said she did not know where the two had gone late Saturday, or where they were heading at the time of the 1:50 a.m. crash.

Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said Gilliam's car was traveling southbound in the 3600 block of Wanda Road when he drove over some railroad tracks and lost control of the car.

Burke said Gilliam's car then swerved into the northbound lane, side-swiping the utility pole and landing in a grove of trees adjacent to the old Pong School.

Burke said the passenger door was ripped off the car, partially ejecting Haselhorst. Gilliam and Haselhorst were taken to Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

Gilliam then was transported to St. Louis University Health Sciences Center.

Haselhorst was pronounced dead of her injuries at 2:50 a.m.

Tracy Haselhorst of Bunker Hill said her sister-in-law Kathy had "a big heart," a lot of friends and was a "workaholic." She also enjoyed playing softball.

Officials working on Germania settlement

Plan is to recover money for customers

ALTON — Lawyers for GermaniaBank note holders are trying to hammer out a settlement with the FDIC to recover millions of dollars lost in the defunct savings and loan.

"We've been negotiating steadily for a month with the FDIC to try to win a settlement for the note holders," said attorney Frank Duda, who represents former bank customers in a seven-year-old lawsuit.

Duda and Wood River attorney Rod Pitts have been battling in federal court for the last five years to recover $10 million for 600 former Germania customers in Alton, Wood River and throughout the area.

Hundreds of capital note holders lost millions of dollars when the 100-year-old Alton savings bank failed and was seized by the federal Office of Thrift Supervision in 1990.

"Older people lost their life savings in the notes," said Duda, who filed the lawsuit against former Germania officers and the FDIC in June 1990.

U.S. District Judge Paul Riley in East St. Louis ordered the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. last Sept. 20 to pay $8.1 million to the note holders.

After a trial, Riley ruled that unlicensed salespeople illegally sold millions of dollars in uninsured capital notes in Germania branches in Alton and throughout Illinois.

The FDIC immediately decided to appeal the judge's decision to the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

Duda and Pitts have been negotiating in Chicago with the FDIC for a settlement to avert an appeal that could take years to resolve in court.

"The lawsuit has been going for seven years, and the note holders have been waiting for their money," Duda said.

A long appeal would cause the case to drag on many more years, Duda said.

"And we're not sure what the outcome would be," he said.

Duda wouldn't comment on how much money the lawyers are seeking in the settlement with the FDIC, but sources said it amounts to millions of dollars.

Duda asked Riley to delay action on post-trial motions in the case until lawyers can try to reach a settlement with the FDIC.

"Judge Riley has been very patient while we try to reach a settlement," Duda said. "If we reach a settlement, it would be sent to Judge Riley for preliminary approval."

try to work out a settlement," Duda said. "If we reach a settlement, it would be sent to Judge Riley for preliminary approval."

Germania sold $10 million in risky uninsured capital notes, called "schnotes," in a high-pressure "Top Gun" sales campaign, Duda and Pitts claim in the lawsuit.

More than a dozen lawyers are involved in the settlement negotiations this week, including attorneys for note holders and the FDIC.

Lawyer John Davidson, who represents former Germania Chairman Joe Mason, said he may join the negotiations this week to possibly assist the note holders.

Mason, 54, once the principal stockholder in Germania, pleaded guilty April 16 in U.S. District Court in St. Louis to a charge of making a false statement to federal regulators in 1988.

"Mr. Mason has never admitted any wrongdoing in the Germania case," Davidson said.

While Davidson defended Mason during the last seven years, he collected hundreds of bank documents, which could help note holders in reaching a settlement with the FDIC, sources said.

Former Germania President Steven Gardner, 48, and former bank officer Edward Morris, 54, each is serving a 46-month prison sentence on a federal fraud conviction over the sale of the capital notes in Alton and other areas of Illinois.

Transit district receives beautification award

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

The Madison County Transit District received a beautification award last week from the Women's Division of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

MCT Chairman Ron Selph accepted the award, which recognizes the district's recently-completed parking lot at the corner of 19th Street and Edison Avenue, at the district's monthly meeting May 29.

The new Park & Ride lot, directly across 19th Street from the Granite City transit station, was opened in March and accommodates 50 vehicles. The district removed the vacant former Woolworth building to make room for the lot.

"We are honored to be recognized with this award," Selph said. "The transit district is proud to be a part of the communities it serves and strives to do its part to keep the area beautiful."

Linda Manis and Kathy Goclan of the women's division presented the award to the district.

Three other organizations were also recognized by the women's division: Shirl K. Floral Designs, 2701 Ponton Road; Rain Tunnel Express Car Wash, Niedringhaus and Madison avenues; and Violets and Vinery, 1304 Niedringhaus Ave.

Women's division President Judy Stille said the organization has been presenting beautification awards for more than 15 years.

Hospital assumes family planning grant

A controversial state family planning grant has been assumed temporarily by Wood River Township Hospital and may become permanent after 30 days.

Officials said the annual grant of about $286,000 was dropped May 31 by Family & Community Services (FCS) of Alton.

The temporary grant is for $20,000, said John Pitzer, regional director for the Illinois Department of Public Health. It was assumed June 1 by a not-for-profit group created by the hospital called the Madison County Health Center.

The health center is not a part of the Madison County Health Department, which also has been talking with the state about assuming the grant.

The grant will probably continue with Madison County Health Center unless the county health department wants it," Pitzer said.

Debra Tscheschlok, personal health services manager for the county health department, said the grant would probably remain with the hospital for a while.

Members of the Madison County Board recently expressed reluctance to take over the grant because of concerns about negative reaction from anti-abortion groups.

The grant has prompted fear historically among local anti-abortion groups that it may require abortion referrals and even abortion services.

"I think this is very much a winning situation for the residents of the county, because it really pulls primary care reproductive health care services together under one roof."

— Max Ludeke
Hospital official

However, state officials insist the Title X federal funding requires only that information be provided about abortion if requested.

"This is more of an abortion prevention program," Pitzer said.

The county board still may discuss the annual grant at its June 18 meeting.

The hospital will run only one clinic, at 1623 Washington Ave. in Alton, said Max Ludeke, interim administrator at the hospital.

FCS ran clinics in Alton and Collinsville under its former name, Family Services & Visiting Nurse Association (FSVNA). Ludeke said he was considering other possible sites for a clinic in the southern part of the county.

Services mandated by the grant include contraceptive distribution and family planning counseling.

The grant will complement other state-funded programs at the hospital, Ludeke said, such as a $1 million grant for the "Healthy Moms, Healthy Kids" program and another $20,000 grant for pre-natal care.

The hospital also has assumed the former PSVNA grant for sexually transmitted diseases in the county. That annual grant is about $14,000, but the 30-day allotment is just $1,000, Ludeke said.

"I think this is very much a winning situation for the residents of the county, because it really pulls primary care reproductive health care services together under one roof," Ludeke said.

Schools offer free lunch

The Granite City School District will offer free lunch this summer to all children residing in the district.

Lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Monday through Friday beginning June 16. The program will end Aug. 8.

Lake, Niedringhaus and Prather elementary schools will be the serving sites. Children ages 1 through 18 years wishing to participate should arrive no later than 12:30 p.m. and enter the cafeteria through the parking lot at Lake, the playground at Niedringhaus or the front doors at Prather.

Parents are encouraged to attend with their children, but federal regulations prohibit parents from sharing their child's meal. Lunch will be available to parents for $2.

The program will continue as long as federal funding is available, and participation merits keeping the sites open, according to Lois Wood, cafeteria supervisor for the school district.

EVANGELIST DON & MARTHA TENNISON

Before becoming full time evangelists, they pastored for 20 years, the last twelve were at First Assembly of God in Radcliff, KY.

In May 1988, their church bus was hit head-on by a Drunk Driver going the wrong way on the interstate. The crash killed 27 people and was national news for weeks.

They both have experienced God's healing power in their lives. Martha was healed of ulcers so extreme that doctors wanted to replace her stomach with an artificial one. Because they have gone through the trials and won, they know how to minister to others.

THE LAW AND YOU
By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When does the owner of a business establishment have a duty to protect his patrons from harm caused by other people on the premises? Several Illinois cases have indicated that a business needs to protect its patrons only if the owner is aware of a potentially dangerous condition.

In one recent case, two men attempted to enter a health club and bar. Two employees of the club refused to allow the men into the bar because they appeared to be intoxicated. The employees later testified that they were aware that the men had been drinking since they had bloodshot eyes and slightly slurred speech. When they were asked to leave, the two intoxicated gentlemen became abusive and obnoxious.

The club employees did not escort the men to the parking lot nor did they call the police. Furthermore, there was no club supervision of the parking lot. The intoxicated men got in their car, and an argument ensued with patrons only if the owner is aware of a potentially dangerous condition. The men who had been refused admittance to the club got back into their car and purposely drove into the other man's car and pinned his leg against the vehicle. He eventually had the leg amputated below the knee.

The man who was injured not only sued the driver of the vehicle, but he also brought suit against the club. The basis for his action against the health club was its asserted failure to control the intoxicated driver of the other vehicle. The plaintiff alleged that the club should have notified the police of the intoxicated state of the two men. In addition, the injured party felt that the owners of the business establishment should have protected the plaintiff from the intoxicated driver, and that there should have been security personnel in the parking lot.

The Court rejected all of these arguments, and a verdict was directed in favor of the health club. The Court noted that there was no evidence concerning any prior incidents with the two intoxicated men. In addition, the Court noted that the club had no way of knowing of the intoxicated driver's violent or dangerous nature. Whereas the employees of the club knew that the individual had been drinking, they could not have known the extent of his intoxication. Therefore, the Court refused to hold the club liable for the injuries.

CAROL'S COMMENTS

CAROL'S COMMENTS

Justice gets 'puppy' slap

Figuratively speaking, the recent action of the Illinois House panel that decided to drop impeachment proceedings against Illinois State Supreme Court Justice James Heiple reminded me a lot of the heyday of discipline a puppy that has just soiled the carpeting: "Bad dog!" while scowling and brandishing a loosely-folded newspaper.

Instead of "bad doggy," the panel chose to call His Honor "arrogant" and "imperious" as well as noting that his behavior in question was "inappropriate and improper." One representative, who voted against continuing impeachment proceedings, asked Heiple to resign from the bench because he had "brought shame on the court." Another noted that Heiple was "no poster child for integrity or judicial ethics."

The heinous behavior for which Justice Heiple was being castigated? While Chief Judge (he has since stepped down from that lofty position) he attempted, not once, but on several occasions to beat traffic tickets by using his position on the court, then tried to evade police, and then appointed a friendly judge to head the inquiry into his allegations. He refused to admit to the allegations and presented some fairly shaky testimony. The cops apparently were far more convincing in their statements.

While the panel's vote was not unanimous, with two members voting for further action on the part of the Legislature and one state senator continuing to urge it, impeachment is dead in the water and everything considered, the panel probably made a wise decision in voting not to pursue it.

The reasoning appears to have been that Heiple's sins were not on a level that would justify impeachment and that should such an action be taken, it would possibly pose a threat to our traditional separation of powers.

Within a matter of days following the apparent closure in the Heiple matter, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Antonin

Carol Clarkin

Scalia said much the same thing with reference to a proposal in Congress that would make possible impeachment of federal judges by itself (Congress). Justice Scalia doesn't think much of the idea and was quoted as saying, "I think we have enough respect for our courts, enough understanding in the country that if you let the legislature intrude too much on the judiciary, we'll be in trouble."

For a change, I agreed with Scalia, though I might question just how much respect our courts are going to merit with chaps like Heiple wearing the robe.

Heiple has already been censured by the Illinois Courts Commission, individual members of the House panel sharply criticized his behavior, and the Illinois Judicial Inquiry Board is expected to review the panel's transcript to determine whether further discipline is in order.

But Heiple himself just doesn't seem to get it, to grasp the error of his ways. Following announcement of the panel's decision, Heiple's response was, "These proceedings, while unfortunate, should serve as a shining example of everything that's right about our system of government. I intend to serve the balance of my current term with the integrity I have always given public office." Come again, Your Honor?

The reasoning appears to have been that Heiple's sins were not on a level that would justify impeachment and that should such an action be taken, it would possibly pose a threat to our traditional separation of powers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Trash litters area roadways

TO THE EDITOR: I am concerned about the amount of trash thrown on the roads along southern Illinois. I took a couple of hours to collect trash on a half-mile stretch on Kaskaskia Highway.

What entered my mind was the commercial of the Indiana who shed a tear. I told my girls never to walk in ditches without shoes. What's more disgusting is that I also collected diapers, gallons of spoiled milk, beer bottles, whiskey bottles and spray cans.

Doesn't anyone care? Well, I do. Not only for me, but for you and our children also. And for the Indian who shed a tear. Instead of having a few people who do care clean up the mess of irresponsible people, why not make the people who are in jail walk the streets for a good cause? After all, enough of our tax money is wasted as far as I'm concerned.

Finally, why should I have to buy two bundles of sanitary bags to pick up trash thrown out by careless people?

DONNA KAUFMANN Waterloo

Cheapening of life: its effects

TO THE EDITOR: I am extremely perplexed when I read or hear how child abuse has reached epidemic proportions.

I remember very clearly, when abortion was first getting its death grip on our country, how the pro-abortionists trumpeted their claim that killing unborn children (the ultimate child abuse) would solve the problems of child abuse because "every child would be wanted."

I would like for one of the people who made this claim to tell me how many innocent children have to be killed in order to end child abuse.

Even they must realize now how ridiculous that claim was, since you don't hear it anymore. I really doubt if too many of the people that made this claim really believed it in the first place.

They were simply grasping at something to make their cause sound noble.

What really occurred was that by cheapening life, the flood-gates were opened for further abuse.

Unfortunately, when people use irresponsible and selfish logic, they don't solve any problems, they just create new ones.

This is very evident when you observe another result of abortion becoming commonplace. That is, if it's OK to kill the young, then surely it must be OK to kill the old, the infirm, and the "useless."

Wake up, America. Then speak up! Stop the erosion of morality and common sense. The alternative is not a pretty picture.

CHARLES ECKERT Collinsville

Education effort failed

TO THE EDITOR: (Editor's note: This letter was written before the General Assembly adjourned last week-end after failing to approve a major change in the way education is funded in the state.)

With less than two weeks left in the spring legislative session, Illinois has never been closer to approving a fair system for funding our state's public schools.

For the good of all the children of Illinois, I urge everyone to pick up the phone today and call your legislators and senators. If you care about education, you should demand that the General Assembly provide Fair School Funding in Illinois in 1997.

The school community — Illinois PTA, Illinois Association of School Administrators, Illinois Federation of Teachers, Illinois School Board Association, the Illinois Retired Teachers' Association and the Illinois Education Association — have formed a coalition to promote funding reform. In addition, the coalition developed and released the Fair School Funding Plan.

Gov. Edgar, this year's uncontested champion of Illinois schoolchildren, has endorsed the Fair School Funding Plan's guiding principles in his crusade to change the way Illinois' public schools are funded. We urge the members of the General Assembly to evaluate any reform plan by examining how it fits the coalition's guiding principles.

In order for genuine funding reform to occur, lawmakers must approve a plan that will:

• Move the state toward paying 51 percent of the total cost of school funding.

• Increase to $4,500 the foundation level for every student in the state.

• Reduce statewide inequities in school funding.

• Provide significant property tax relief.

• Harm no child, no school, no district.

While it's true that funding reform has never been closer to becoming a reality, the last, most important step is yet to be taken by the General Assembly. Pick up the phone today and call your legislators. Do it for the children.

Dummies make a statement

By GROVER BRINKMAN

If your roots go down deep in Egypt (southern Illinois), rest assured that you live in a unique place. For one thing, the races got a good mix there: French, German, Cajun, a few Englishmen, Indian and river French, plus the incomers from Kentucky and the Carolinas — and when this melting pot was stirred vigorously over the years, the end result was the friendly native we call Egyptians.

They are not exactly Ozarkians, although they do have their friendliness and perseverance. They learned to be self-sustaining in a hurry. For outside of a few flats they called prairie, the land was rolling meadow, not exactly mountainous, but far from level.

Perhaps that is one of the reasons that only in this wedge of land locked between the rivers that you'll find Hex signs, large copper roosters atop the church steeples, other church spires topped with angel Gabriel, and rarities of all rarities, life-sized love effigies hanging from some utility pole or shade tree in a front yard.

Before adding another word to this genealogy bit, let's emphasize that the love effigy, usually in the form of a straw dummy, is all in fun. It isn't a college prank, an attempt at racism by the cross-burners or other scare groups. It's merely good old German fun, and grandpa brought it over with his hazel cutters when he put his roots here.

This odd lifestyle of the straw dummy can definitely be attributed to grandpa. But what is even more odd is the fact that this small circle within southern Illinois is the only area where the old-world custom has been given a rebirth. Maybe these aging German grandpas appreciate a good joke more than do some of their others peers.

"Ich liebe dich!" is an expression in low German meaning "I love you!" It has a very wide ramification.

So, in the southern Illinois communities of Bartlesville, Albers, Breese, Damiansville and St. Liberty, the "Ich liebe dich" allegation is often put into the form of a straw dummy simulating a love effigy.

Someone climbs a utility pole or a big tree in the front yard, and up goes the dummy for all to see. This in reality is much like the after-dark soiree that "dumped" someone's privy on Halloween night but has a far different application. In these towns, as in most communities, stealing someone else's best gal is usually a matter of ethics or body chemistry. It happens, over and over, for such is the intricacy of young love. Then comes the dummy, sort of a trophy beamed at the loser. "Did you hear the news? Mary dumped John!" "I knew it was coming. Is Gustave the new boy?" "They got the dummy up before dawn!"

So the phones ring, and within hours, everyone in town knows about Mary dumping poor John. If you get the dummy, you'd better be a good sport about it! So either you ignore the effigy or hope someone else's gal and head the straw-stuffed image to someone else.

Tourists motoring through these towns of course know nothing of the game. Some of them grow concerned, and hunt up the law.

But the waitress who serves them their bratwurst luncheon soon enlightens them, and out come the cameras.

One visitor was heard to remark: "What's wrong with the TV networks? Here's a story right down John Pertzborn's alley, and I bet he's never heard of it!"

The suspended straw dummy, senior citizens explain, is purely local in these half dozen towns. It came over from Germany and Austria. The practice started with the first incomers at Civil War time, and there has never been a let-up.

In old-world tradition, the bierstube or local saloon is the social club of the community. These lounges are a bit different from the usual run. Here farmers relax over a beer and discuss crops or politics as they play their favorite game of kleeper — so popular here in the area that an annual tournament is held. Young and old play it, including the wives. Here is where most of the "straw dummy" activity is plotted.

"It is one way to put the horns on the German old-timer explained to a tourist. So the visitor had two new things to talk about when he got back home — the hanging of the dummies and kleeper. "It's a better game than poker," one of the players insisted.

Maybe one of these days, the natives of these towns can expect to be playing kleeper with Pertzborn, who will be asking about an unusual sense of humor when it comes to the peccadilloes of thwarted young love.

NEWS

•Support

"I think the city of Granite City could do a lot better in an arrangement such as this. I think we're getting the short end of the stick."

Granite City Mayor Ron Selph agreed and said he didn't fully understand the ramifications of the agreement last week.

Mayor John Hamm of Madison also attended the meeting along with Madison City Attorney Casper Nighohossian. Nighohossian also serves as attorney for the Venice township and city.

He said those municipalities had already sent letters to the corps expressing support for the Madison annexation.

But Selph said he will withhold the Granite City letter until the cities sit down and discuss other possibilities.

"I guess we're back to square one," Selph said.

The Madison annexation was apparently a part of an oral agreement between Granite City, Madison, Venice and Venice Township reached in January after a meeting of the Tri-City Regional Port Authority.

Last year, the port was seeking a tax increment finance district as an incentive for ConAgra to build a $150 million soybean processing plant on the canal. Port officials approached Granite City about annexing a portion of the port and setting up the TIF district.

Although ConAgra chose another site, the city and port were still interested in the TIF proposal for future development.

But Joe Parente, administrator of Madison County's Solid Waste Department, told aldermen Tuesday that Madison's annexation would put that city in a position to negotiate a host agreement with Waste Management, owner of the landfill, that could reap the city as much as $2 million in revenue a year.

Parente said host agreements between landfills and municipalities with siting authority generally provide that, if the Environmental Protection Agency approves landfill expansion, the municipality is compensated in some fashion.

ion. "I don't know if you'd want to call it a legal bribe or not, but that's basically what we're talking about," Parente said of host agreements.

Parente said he sees no reason why two cities could not enter into a host agreement with the landfill when asked by Selph if such a scenario is possible.

Although the landfill is about five miles from Madison proper, the city annexed the landfill last October, utilizing special legislation that allowed it to "jump" over federal land to gain access. Madison County has challenged the legislation and subsequent annexation in court and that case is pending.

The proposed strip annexation along the island would render the pending litigation moot, as it would put Madison's new city boundary adjacent to Waste Management property.

But Hamm said that the landfill was not the primary purpose Madison is seeking the land. He said the city needed access to the Old Chain of Rocks Bridge, which is currently undergoing a $3 million renovation into a pedestrian bridge and tourist attraction.

"If the landfill is there and we have an opportunity to get a host agreement — yes, we'll look at that," Hamm said.

Hamm said his goal is to shift economic development to this side of the river from its current westward trend.

"We want to see this side of the river start growing and we want to do it through fair negotiations," Hamm said. "Anything we can do to move this along and help the entire region — we're willing to discuss it."

Selph praised Hamm for his interest in regional goals.

"There's not a doubt in my mind Mayor Hamm is a good neighbor and willing to cooperate with us to the benefit of both communities," Selph said.

But Nighohossian was less amicable. He said other communities submitted their letters by April 25, but that Selph has delayed in sending the Granite City letter of support.

"We're now in June and we're still looking for your support," Nighohossian said.

Selph reminded Nighohossian that the communities reached the agreement in January but that Granite City did not receive letters of support from Madison, Venice and Venice Township until April.

"You sat on that letter for three months," Selph said.

Tarpoiff said the fact that city leaders are hashing out the issue is good.

"This might be the time to put everything on the table and hammer it out now so we don't have to fight it out in the future," Tarpoiff said.

•Berry

While workers do not provide medical services, they do include everything from light housekeeping and shopping to meal preparation and laundry.

"Our most typical clients have us in three to five times a week to do things like help them dress, make them meals or run errands," Director Nancy Berry said.

The program has been in 500 to 800 homes since it began in July 1985. Last year alone, it served 200 clients.

St. John's service area includes Collinsville, Maryville, Caseyville, Troy, Edwardsville, Glen Carbon, Granite City and Fairview Heights.

Some of the program's clients also suffer from Alzheimer's disease, an illness that Berry has become all too acquainted with. She is the Illinois representative for the St. Louis Alzheimer's Association. In that role, she tries to help not only caregivers in her program but also to help families of victims to cope with the illness.

"It's a lot harder to accept and to deal with when someone you've known all your life as a responsible, capable person... and suddenly they're putting canned goods in the dryer and dirty dishes in the refrigerator," Berry said.

It's also hard, she said, to watch her clients combat and then ultimately succumb to their illnesses.

"Death comes to everybody and it's easier if you accept that," Berry said. "Making the end of a life better for someone is a great contribution."

That has been Berry's biggest consolation and motivation in her job, which she has held since 1988.

"I really feel like God put me in the right place at the right time," Berry said.

But she said she didn't always feel that way. When the program needed its first director in 1985, Berry wasn't interested.

"I said 'thanks for asking, but no thanks,'" she said. "Three years later, when they needed somebody, I was ready."

Berry is also active in other facets of the church. She is currently serving on its accessibility committee, which is looking at ways to make the building better for the disabled.

"We've got five levels in this building with stairs," Berry said. "We've struggled for 20 years with how to fix that."

The answer may lie in architectural drawings the congregation voted to initiate two weeks ago. The plans call for a building addition with an elevator, automatic doors, an atrium entrance area and extra office space.

The church is also exploring a "family center" addition that would serve multiple purposes, including the possibility of an "adult daycare" program.

Nancy and her husband Bill Berry came to Collinsville in 1973 from their native Belleville where his law practice moved here.

"I don't think we ever meant to stay but it's been a good place to raise our family," she said.

The Berrys have two sons, Christopher, 19, and Kevin, who will be 17 this month.

When she was pregnant with her older son, the wife of one of her husband's law partners asked Nancy to join the League of Women Voters of Collinsville. Because she was working in St. Louis, she took advantage of the chance to get involved with the city.

"I went to a meeting and it was so much fun," Berry said. "I joined to learn and to feel more capable of making good decisions in the community."

While the League has always been involved with local issues, Berry said the group has become more focused in recent years. One example has been the group's lobbying and support for Collinsville's change to the city manager form of government.

"If there's an issue worth pursuing, you've got to hang onto it," Berry said. "When people understand the whys, they usually agree."

Candidate forums are becoming more of a mainstay for the group and Berry said she has been pleased to see not only the number of participants but the size of the audiences grow.

"Two years ago we'd have 20 to 30 people come and they were all either League members or someone they brought along," Berry said. "It's great to see people taking an interest in the candidates and in their community."

prosecutors.

"It appears the government had a good circumstantial case. It was obviously a good case by the decision of the jury," Byron said.

Haine said the verdict contributes to the public perception of safety and to a great extent redeems the American justice system's image, which has been tarnished by doubts about the verdict in the O.J. Simpson murder trial.

"It (McVeigh) is a positive verdict that came about as a result of a painstaking investigation. It is a verdict which demonstrated due process and shows that the system is not a system in which lawyers win by playing tricks," Haine said.

But Byron was unwilling to go as far as to say the case vindicates the justice system because it might imply a criticism of the principle of trial by jury.

"That's the way the system works, and the system includes selection of a jury," Byron said.

Haine said he hopes the jury will find McVeigh eligible for the death penalty.

"I hope the court system will give him the death penalty that he so richly deserves," the prosecutor said.

Griffin said all federal employees undoubtedly feel a sense of relief at the conclusion of the trial of McVeigh but also feel a sense of concern that the same thing can happen again.

"I think there are others out there like Timothy McVeigh," he said.

"I think most people feel good that he was caught and found guilty, but as far as security goes, I think it could happen again," said another employee in the Alton federal building who asked not to be identified.

Griffin said there are many who have attitudes similar to that of McVeigh.

"He had to find an enemy, and it happened to be the federal government," Griffin said.

"He made the statement that none of the people were responsible individually, but they are responsible collectively. It's tragic that all those children had to die because they were associated with the federal government. It all doesn't make any sense," he said.

Alton hopes Legion looks for Moore

Whatever you do, do not pass this tale along to any American Legion officials, especially if they have anything to do with baseball.

You see, I was coaching a high school baseball game this spring at Gordon Moore Park in Alton and had something happen I've never seen before. The game was stopped to remove dog dog in the foul territory area between home plate and third base.

Thanks to Alton High coach Mike Bellin and his assistants, the lid of a baseball box was used as a pooper scooper to allow the game to continue.

No, I had not protested that play was hindered or there could have been a problem for a third baseman or catcher trying to catch a foul pop fly. I assumed the plate umpire or Alton coaching staff spotted the canine concern.

But my concern is that mention of a dog having found its way into Gordon Moore Park ever should make it to the Legion bigwigs who turned down that community's bid for a 1999 National American Legion World Series.

While Alton's Redbirds were defeating O'Fallon, 4-1, I made sure not to mention the dog doings to Alton Legion coach Dave Hopkins, who had made the tournament bid to a six-member National Legion committee in Indianapolis.

Nor did I mention that during my years with The Sporting News in St. Louis, I met annually at major league baseball's winter meetings with Legion national director George Rouland and learned much about the organization.

While money and its generation seem to be the reason for Alton now having lost bids for the World Series in 1997 and '98 as well as '99, I think tradition is not on Alton's side.

Not only has Southwestern Illinois not hosted the Senior Legion Midwest Regional tournament, the state of Illinois has yet to host a Legion World Series in 83 years.

Sorry for the play on words, but what needs to be done is for the Alton folks to rub the noses of National League officials in the Gordon Moore Park baseball complex.

The lighted facility rates with the best in the country with everything from a lush grass infield and outfield to a batting cage, scoreboard, press box facilities, restrooms and concession stand.

With easy access to motels and restaurants, Lloyd Hopkins Field at Gordon Moore is appealing for any baseball tournament, making me wonder just how Middleton, Conn., could outbid Alton.

Then again, maybe Dave Hopkins is accurate when he said: "Each year we've got a better reception. People know who we are."

More importantly, he adds: "I think our team is about ready to break loose on the national scale. I think we'll have the best Legion team I've ever seen in the area this summer. That will help."

Sure will, Dave, and with folks like yourself interested in providing the best for Alton area youngsters, you've got to tell yourself eventually Alton will be recognized.

TEE TIME: If everyone involved with pro sports were as willing to give their time as Whitey Herzog is, what a wonderful life it would be.

The first Whitey Herzog "Gibault High School Summer Golf Classic" is scheduled for Wednesday, June 18 at Annabrie Golf Course. The cost for the four-player scramble is $800 per foursome or $150 per golfer.

Included are a steak dinner and awards banquet, and chances to win Buick automobiles as part of two hole-in-one contests. Proceeds benefit Gibault, whose golf team advanced to the Illinois state tournament last fall. More information can be obtained by contacting Steve King at 939-3883 or Greg Lane at 1-800-228-8190.

Kickers take head, state berth

Dellbring lifts GCHS to quarterfinals

By Patrick C. Heston

Jaime Dellbring's solution to her persistent hip problems and shin splints is a simple one. She uses her head.

Dellbring took Roxie Simpson's crossing pass off a corner kick at 68:55 and headed it into the lower right hand corner of the goal for the winning score in Granite City's 2-1 win over Quincy Notre Dame in Tuesday night's girls soccer super-sectional at Collinsville.

The victory gives GCHS a berth to the state quarterfinals in Naperville, its third visit to state in the last four years.

The Lady Warriors meet Palatine 5:30 p.m. Friday at Naperville Central High School. Palatine, which won state in 1989 and '95, beat Rockford Guilford on penalty kicks Tuesday after the two squads had played 100 scoreless minutes.

"I can't really shoot very well," Dellbring said. "My specialty is the head ball. My legs were giving me lots of problems tonight. My left thigh was cramping up on me and the shin splints were really bothering me. I just had to play through it."

And play through it she did, putting a pair of shots on goal, turning momentum with a trio of tackles and generally spearheading an awesome midfield performance by the Lady Warriors.

The field, which Notre Dame coach Mark Longo had called "a joke" during pregame warm-ups, was covered with clumps of damp, freshly mowed grass, and gave players some footing problems through the first 20 minutes.

It was a defensive struggle early as both teams played it safe, sending up only one or Amber Hubert makes a drive for the net in Tuesday's game. The Lady Warriors will take on Palatine at 5:30 p.m. Friday in the state quarterfinals.

Getting to Naperville

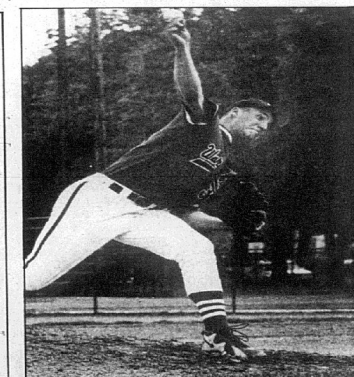

The Illinois girls soccer state tournament begins off Friday at Naperville Central High School. Granite City meets Palatine in the third quarterfinal game at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

The Lady Warriors last played at Naperville Central in 1993. Granite City lost to Downers Grove South 1-0 in the quarterfinals.

To get to Naperville Central, located in DuPage County, take Interstate 55 north to I-355 north. Follow I-355 to the 75th Street exit.

Go west to Washington Street and turn right (north). Follow Washington to Hillside and turn left. The Naperville Central stadium will be on the right-hand side of the road.

Fans driving to the state tournament should allow at least 4½-5 hours to make the trip from Granite City.

Final Four return for another shot at title

By Patrick C. Heston

Getting to the state tournament in Naperville this weekend was no easy task for most of the eight winners that advanced.

Three super-sectional games were decided on penalty kicks, another took two overtimes and yet another went into extra sessions. When the last of the kicks had been taken, Granite City joined seven of the premier girls soccer squads in Illinois for a battle to see who will carry home the coveted 1997 state championship.

All four semifinalists from a year ago — St. Charles, Orland Park Sandburg, Libertyville and Granite City — are again in the hunt, as well as 1996 state qualifiers Winnetka

SOCCER

New Trier and Palatine

Palatine's Pirates are the Lady Warriors' first-round foe at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

Palatine nipped Rockford Guilford 3-2 on penalty kicks Tuesday after the teams had played scoreless through 100 minutes.

"It was a sloppy game on a bad field," said Palatine coach Willie Filian of his team's squeaker at Rockton Hononegah. "And to make it even worse, the ball was out of play more than it was in play. They had two really young kids running the lines and once a ball went out of play, it was 30 to 45 seconds, sometimes a minute, before they rounded it up" (See STATE, Page 3B)

Edwardsville outburst sinks Alton in regional

By R.J. Gerber

Mark Bugger lauded luck as an integral part of postseason survival.

Especially against a team as talented, if not morose, than the Edwardsville Tigers. So, when the EHS senior shortstop led off the seventh inning of Tuesday's Granite City Class AA Regional championship against Alton and the game scoreless, he knew it was time.

"I figured we had to get something rolling and I got lucky and hit a gap shot," Bugger said of his double that led to an eight-run explosion and an 8-0 Edwardsville triumph. Bugger's hit to left-center just eluded Dustin Cowan's reach.

Then, in what was a pressure-packed battle to that point, the game turned nightmarish for Alton (26-9). Edwardsville (34-3) used seven hits, an error and an intentional walk to capture its 11th regional title in 18 years.

The Tigers earned a spot in their own sectional, which begins Saturday at the Edwardsville Sports Complex. The Tigers will meet the survivor of the Centerville Regional.

BASEBALL

When you're 0-0 going into the seventh, it's big-time," Edwardsville coach Tom Pile said. "But we've got a bunch of little bulldogs out there that can play."

The key play was Alton's inability to get an out when Matt Evers laid down a sacrifice bunt following Bugger's double. Catcher Craig Harmon fielded the bunt from the Tigers' cleanup man, but no one covered first, leaving Edwardsville with runners at first and third and no one out.

Evers' bunt killed them. We just finally got it rolling at the end," said Bugger, who doubled twice, scored twice and drove in a run in the marathon seventh inning.

two forwards on each offensive charge.

The Lady Raiders held the upper hand for 20 minutes, using their superior speed to choke off Granite City attacks and to sprint past defenders, and using their size and strength to muscle their way into the open. Notre Dame was more aggressive and won nearly every ball.

"I didn't feel that we had our game faces on before we got here," said GCHS coach Gene Baker. "And we were on them about that. But, we've tended to do that. We've been too much of a second half team. It makes things unduly thrilling."

The momentum swung to the Lady Warriors' favor on a near-goal by Ismahon Mohsen at 21:58. Mohsen entered the box from the left side, darted and dribbled past four different defenders and moved to the center where she stroked a shot from five yards.

Notre Dame keeper Michelle Meyer, who was the most aggressive goalie the Lady Warriors have faced all season, made the save of the game, getting a hand on the ball and deflecting it to the left, where a defender kicked it across the goal line.

The game stayed scoreless until the 32:58 mark, when the GCHS defense failed to clear the ball cleanly. Freshman midfielder Kim Genenbacher got to the ball, charged the right side of the goal and buried a shot in the left corner for a 1-0 Lady Raiders lead at halftime.

The lead nearly became 2-0 less than eight minutes into the second half when freshman Beth Zeidler, who had 23 goals and 13 assists coming into the contest, shot from left to right across the goalmouth from 14 yards, just missing a score.

From that moment on, GCHS progressively gained control of the contest. "We had worn them down by the second half," Baker said. "Our wingbacks, Michelle (Montgomery) and Amanda (Nizanski), stepped it up in the second half. Notre Dame has a high work rate and does a lot of slide tackling—just like the teams we'll see in Chicago—but that takes its toll on girls. We also put many more passes together than they did. You could see more connection of five, six passes. Usually, that will take its toll on the legs and I think that may have made the difference later on."

Baker also credited his team's second-half turnaround to the 1-2-6-1 he went to in the second 40 minutes. "It's a pretty crazy formation," said the wily GCHS mentor, "but it changed where the Lady Raiders were. We were just trying something that would change where their people were."

Mark Longo didn't agree. "I think they just outworked us a little bit in the second half. But that little bit was enough," Longo said. "They picked up their intensity. Ours remained at essentially the same level, but theirs really improved. It wasn't the system they used—they could have used any system—it was their aggressiveness and intensity. They put pressure on the ball, stole it and attacked."

The ball basically stayed in the GCHS offensive end the last 30 minutes of the game. At 50:01, Mohsen shot from in close and the rebound brought a flurry of red jerseys to the front of the net. In the ensuing scramble involving four Lady Warriors and a pair of Lady Raiders, Mohsen shot again. The ball bounced off the leg of a defender and into the goal, knotting the score.

GCHS had several solid chances after that, including a strong header by Mohsen at 53:32, which was stopped, bobbed, then smothered by Meyer. Finally, Simpson and Dellbringe teamed up for the game-winner at 68:55.

"I knew Jaime was going to head it in. I knew it," beamed Simpson. "I was like, 'She's there! I knew she had it.'"

"Dellbringe's a nice clean player," Baker said. "What I mean is that if things are open, she can get it done. I thought that considering her leg problems, she played very well."

"Jaime, Roxie, Chrystal (Timmone), Melissa (Montgomery) and Connie (Meyers) played such good central defense tonight," Baker added. "Erika Todd played well in the second half. Another freshman, Natalie Judge, gave us real good time off the bench. We also got very good play off the bench from Amber Hubert."

If the Lady Warriors get by Palatine on Friday, it could mean a date with top-ranked St. Charles (23-2) at 11 a.m. Saturday. The Fighting Saints are the defending state champions and the second-ranked team in the nation.

walked to load the bases, Dave Crouthers fought off a 6-2 pitch from Jeremy Elliott (7-2) and looped a run-scoring single to left field. That was followed by another bunt single and RBI from Kory Kuba.

After a strikeout, Matt Bogie reached on a fielder's choice and Collin Gardiner reached on an error. Jason Martintoni singled in two runs to chase Elliott, who also had only a bad-bunt single prior to the seventh.

"Even though it was scoreless, I felt in control," said the senior right-hander, who gave up seven runs (three earned) on six hits and three walks, while fanning four in 6 1/2 innings. "But everything just ballooned. They showed who the better team was."

Alton, shut out for the first time this season, had its chances against right-hander Ben Hutton (12-1). But the gritty junior, pitching on two days rest, escaped his biggest jam in the fourth when Harmon bounced into an inning-ending double play with runners at first and second.

"Their big guys came through for them. I don't credit them at all," Alton coach Michael Bellm said. "I'll take my chances with my guys against anybody in a ball game."

"Last year when we were here, we were a lesser team. This year, we were capable of beating anybody. It's terribly disappointing. Once that first run crossed the plate, you knew that both teams had the potential to blow it open."

After Coward relieved Elliott, Bugger sent a run-scoring double to left and Evers followed with a run-scoring single to center.

Mark Miller doubled to start the seventh for Alton off reliever Gardner, but right-hander preserved Edwards' Warriors' Class AA state-record 16th shutout.

and got it back into play. It was terrible.

"In those conditions, neither offense could get going. Momentum was impossible to sustain. You hated seeing a game of this importance played the way it was. You knew as the game wore on that it was coming down to penalty kicks."

But the Pirates will take the win and, with it, their seventh trip to state since 1988. Palatine, which won state titles in 1989 and 1995, lost a heart-breaking 3-2 decision to eventual champion St. Charles in last year's quarterfinal round.

This time around, the Pirates are 19-6-1 with a 1-0 win over tournament entry Libertyville and losses to both Sandburg (2-0) and St. Charles (4-0).

Filian, in his fourth year as head coach, has fashioned a strong defensive team with a low-scoring but well-balanced offensive attack. In goal for the Pirates is 4-star Erin Ekeberg, who is headed to Northwestern University on a full-ride scholarship. All-star

Katie Schager, who like Ekeberg is a four-year starter, is a major factor at midfield.

GCHS coach Gene Baker calls Palatine "a team that can beat anybody anytime," and is certainly not looking past the Pirates to a potential showdown with top-ranked St. Charles. The Lady Warriors lost to St. Charles 2-1 in last year's semifinal, but went on to win the title with a 3-1 romp over Sandburg.

In other matchups Friday, a Chicago-area rivalry in its first trip to the quarterfinals, draws perhaps the weakest member of the state's remaining teams, Peoria Notre Dame, also fielding its first state entry. The team kicked off play at 12:30 p.m. Lyons should prevail in what promises to be the only easy game of the four quarterfinal bouts.

Defending state runner-up Sandburg, ranked fourth in Chicago-area polls, meets second-ranked New Trier at 2:30 p.m. in the most evenly matched contest of the first day. The Lions, who finished last year's opening quarterfinal game, won by Sandburg on penalty kicks after the teams played to a 0-0 tie.

At 7:30 p.m., unbeaten St. Charles (23-0-2), a four-time Illinois champ and the state's top-ranked team, tackles Libertyville. Libertyville reached the semifinals last year and is winning under pressure this year. The Wildcats won their sectional final with a 1-0 OT decision over Lincolnshire Stevenson and escaped Glenbrook South on Tuesday on penalty kicks after a 1-1 standoff through two overtimes.

The standout player of the tournament may be Lady Warriors' year With dry conditions and no more injuries, and a little bit of luck common to all titlists, Saturday could be the night Gene Baker's girls do what his boys have done numerous times in a state soccer championship.

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, JUNE 5
Don't cry over abrupt endings or surprising changes of heart. Loss clears a space for new beginnings spurred by the new moon, which means the sun and moon are in conjunction — at the approximate same degree of the same sector of the zodiac. Today, that sector is Gemini. An intellectual surge has many thinking along different lines, solving long-standing problems and moving on with life!

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Read and listen to instructions carefully. New jobs are possible. Some Aries have complex situations brewing that include love with a co-worker. Catch up on exercise, veggie salads taste great now.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Make "moderation" your motto. Bigwigs are looking your direction; social poise is sometimes the best business move. At last, you're coming into proper compensation for the hard work you do.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Your needs are important, and you should splurge on yourself some, but save a little for later. Friendship with a temperamental person isn't easy, but it's worth the trouble. Progress is made in all relationships.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). The lines are open, so get in touch. The past is returning to reveal its secrets; clues come in dreams and déjà-vu experiences. Important people are coming to town, and some may want to stay with you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You'll experience increased honesty and openness. Subordinates or kids are learning to follow your instructions carefully. Find out the latest science on your health questions. Natural goodness is the best kind.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (June 5). This is a year of surprises. You feel your world turning inside-out; changes can bring joy if you remain flexible. Courses of study will put you out front in your career, and love is found when you're improving your mind. September strengthens family bonds. Progress toward your career goals is steady. Chances to get what you want are real — grab 'em!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Good luck is coming; plan to hang onto it with sensible ways. Avoid assuming poses for appearances' sake. Review and reassess. Surprises arrive in the mail — news from a lawyer or doctor is good.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Few are able to organize their feelings as neatly as you can. Try to better understand and tolerate angry or impulsive people. Make provisions for the future. Write an old friend whom you haven't seen lately.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Preparation is everything on the job. Being a perfectionist can cause nervous stress; relax in a hot tub. Don't fret about your health — check it out. Word is on the way of extra income that will ease burdens.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Deals promise hefty advantages or profits. Call distant family. A lover appoints you director of his loved ones because you are truly gifted. Take time for fun instead of jumping on special assignments or responsibilities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You teach others to look at the big picture because what seems trivial may be a small part of an important whole. Combat moodiness with nutrition. Find the right person to repair an ailing car or appliance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Quick trips are necessary. Whatever the challenge, solutions are on the way. The absence of a co-worker may require you to fill in; Leos have much to teach you. Children are a source of pride tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Display your ability in the spotlight or you may miss out on an important opportunity. Strong support from loved ones gives you a feeling of security. Be generous, as usual, and you won't be lonely.

WANT TO KNOW HOW TO GET OTHER PEOPLE TO CLEAN OUT YOUR HOUSE?

Do you have boxes that have never been unpacked since your last move?

They usually include items that aren't used anymore, but are too good to throw out or give away.
Why keep lugging these boxes around when you could turn them into cash. Haul them one last time into your garage, hold a sale and let a classified advertisement help. You might be surprised by how many people have need for items that you no longer use. And you'll be amazed at the number of these folks you can reach through a low-priced classified ad.

Lighten your load and make some extra cash in the process. Unpack those boxes and call us today to place a garage sale ad that will get results.
